

PRESS RELEASE

Elektrotechnische Werke Fritz Driescher & Söhne GmbH, one of the leading suppliers of German-made medium-voltage and low-voltage switchgears and switching devices, has again been awarded the „CrefoZert“ creditworthiness certificate.

Moosburg, 15 April 2014 – A certificate like this helps build confidence:

Elektrotechnische Werke Fritz Driescher & Söhne GmbH Moosburg has again been awarded the Creditreform creditworthiness certificate (CrefoZert) by Mr Philipp Ganzmüller, managing partner of Creditreform München Ganzmüller, Groher & Kollegen KG. With this certificate, Creditreform München has acknowledged the Moosburg-based company's strong creditworthiness, financial stability and the resulting excellent long-term viability.

The basis for this certification is a professional analysis of the company's financial statements by Creditreform Rating AG, a subsidiary of Creditreform AG that is certified by the German Federal Financial Supervisory Authority (BaFin); also considered here were data from the current credit report and estimates of the current situation and future prospects of the candidate, as determined by means of a personal survey. Elektrotechnische Werke Fritz Driescher & Söhne GmbH performed well here and fulfilled all the necessary criteria. The certificate is valid for one year.

“This certificate will help to foster confidence in us, particularly among our international clients. The creditworthiness certificate is evidence that the company is on a solid financial footing and is in a position to deliver projects that run over a number of years, such as the electrification of the tunnel in Hong Kong,” explains managing director Christoph Driescher.
